Dear Jeff:

Your show yesterday at the Silicon Valley Jewish Film Festival was a huge success. As you know, we had a full house—about 290 people. They came to see a movie about an American-Israeli, Jewish (former Catholic) comedian, and stayed afterwards for the standup comedy show you presented. This combination of the arts—a film and a show following—has proved to be a winning formula. The fact that people came to laugh made this event all that more popular.

I really appreciate your willingness to be a part of the Silicon Valley Jewish Film Festival's success and, of course, I can't say enough about your comedy, and your delivery and audience identification. It's world-class.

Regards,
